Ohio School Plan (OSP)

Brecksville-Broadview Heights City School District

Effective Date of Coverage: 7/1/2020

The Ohio School Plan was formed in February 2002 to provide affordable, comprehensive and stable coverage to public schools. It is governed by Ohio school officials, for Ohio's schools. The Board of Directors is made up of superintendents, treasurers and business managers, representing a diverse group of school districts throughout the state. The goal of OSP is to have the program meet the common needs of Ohio's schools, Educational Service Districts, County Boards of Developmental Disabilities and Community Colleges.

Since its establishment in 2002, the OSP has grown to approximately 250 members; the largest alternative program for public schools in the state. One reason for this growth is the Plan's strategy to provide long-term stability for property, liability, fleet and violence coverage.

As a member, you'll rest easy knowing your coverages are solid and supported by some of the best known names in the reinsurance industry. The Plan's risk management specialists will assist in providing safe educational institutions.

The purpose of the OSP is for members to join together to form a risk management program as authorized by Ohio Revised Code 2744.081 to:

- Establish and administer a risk management program;
- Prevent or lessen the incidence and/or severity of losses occurring from activities of the school;
- Defend and protect members against allegations of negligence or loss.

Ohio Revised Code 2744.081 does not consider the Ohio School Plan an insurance company. Although the Plan may purchase reinsurance, it is exempt from the normal insurance industry's statutory and regulatory requirements.

Aggregate Limit

A limit in an insurance policy stipulating the most it will pay for all covered losses sustained during a specified period of time.

Agreed Value

Boiler and Machinery Coverage (Equipment Breakdown)

Coverage for loss due to mechanical or electrical breakdown of nearly any type of equipment, including photocopiers and computers. Coverage applies to the cost to repair or replace the equipment and any other property damaged by the equipment breakdown.

Business Income/Business Interruption

Insurance covering loss of income suffered by a business as a result of not being able to use property damaged by a covered cause of loss, during the time required to repair or replace it.

Claim

A demand by an individual or corporation to recover for loss.

Coinsurance

A property coverage provision that penalizes the member's loss recovery if the limit of coverage purchased by the member is not at least equal to a specified percentage (commonly 80 percent) of the value of the member's property. The coinsurance provision specifies that the member will recover no more than the following: the amount of the loss multiplied by the ratio of the amount of coverage purchased (the limit of coverage) to the amount of coverage required (the value of the property on the date of loss multiplied by the coinsurance percentage), less the deductible.

Computer Fraud

Crime coverage that covers against theft of money, securities, or property by using a computer to transfer covered property from the member's premises or bank to another person or place. No coverage is provided for theft of information or for computer vandalism.

Employers' Liability

Pays on behalf of the insured (employer) all sums that the insured shall become legally obligated to pay as damages because of bodily injury by accident or disease sustained by any employee of the insured arising out of and in the course of his employment by the insured. The Ohio Supreme Court has ruled that an employer may be liable for alleged intentional acts that are substantially certain to occur. Therefore, Employers' Liability coverage should not exclude intentional acts that are substantially certain to occur.

Employment Practices Liability

A form of liability coverage covering wrongful acts arising from the employment process. The most frequent types of claims alleged under such policies include: wrongful termination, discrimination and sexual harassment.

Equipment Breakdown

Coverage for loss caused by mechanical or electrical equipment breakdown, including damage to the equipment, damage to other property of the insured, and damage to property of others.

Inland Marine

A group of property coverages designed to cover exposures that cannot be conveniently or reasonably confined to a fixed location. Includes coverage for property in transit over land, certain moveable property, property under construction, instrumentalities of transportation and communication (such as bridges, roads, piers, and television and radio towers), legal liability coverage for bailees, and computerized equipment. Many inland marine coverage forms provide coverage without regard to the location of the covered property; these are sometimes called "floater" policies. Inland marine coverage forms are generally broader than property coverage forms due to the relative freedom from rate and form regulation of inland marine insurance as compared with property insurance.

Liability Coverage Form Types

Claims-Made Form

Under a claims-made policy, policyholders are covered for any incident that takes place and that is reported to the carrier on or after the earliest date to which a specific insurance policy applies, as long as the policy is still in force. That date may be the effective (inception) date of the policy, or it may be an earlier (retroactive) date, which results from the purchase of retroactive (prior acts) coverage for a policyholder transferring from one claims-made carrier to another. (See Example #2 following the Glossary of Insurance Terms.)

Because claims made policies are designed to cover only those incidents and claims that occur and are reported while a specific policy is in effect, policyholders must take special care when switching from one carrier to another. Upon termination of a claims-made policy with one carrier, policyholders should obtain either "tail" coverage (extended reporting coverage) from the carrier they are leaving or retroactive (Prior Acts) coverage from their new carrier. Either of these coverages insures against claims that are made in the future due to incidents that took place but were not reported while the previous claims made policy was in effect.

Occurrence Form

An occurrence form covers claims that arise out of damage or injury that took place during the policy period, regardless of when claims are reported. (See Example #1 following the Glossary of Insurance Terms.)

The advantage of occurrence coverage is that tail coverage is not needed when switching to another occurrence carrier or to a claims-made carrier. Coverage continues for any claims that are reported in the future as a result of incidents that took place while the occurrence policy was in effect.

Medical Payments (Auto)

Coverage to pay for medical expenses for an insured who sustains bodily injury caused by an auto accident, without regard to fault.

Medical Expense (General Liability)

Coverage that reimburses others for medical or funeral expenses incurred by such persons as a result of bodily injury or death sustained by accident under the conditions specified in the policy.

Money and Securities

Crime coverage which protects against loss by theft, disappearance, or destruction of the member's money and securities inside the member's premises (or member's bank's premises) as well as outside the member's premises while in the custody of a messenger.

Occurrence

Liability

An accident, including continuous or repeated exposure to substantially the same general harmful conditions.

Property

A loss, incident or series of losses or incidents not otherwise excluded by the policy and arising out of a single event or originating cause and includes all resultant or concomitant covered losses.

Additional conditions may apply to coverages such as Wind, Flood or Earthquake to indicate a specific time period applicable for each occurrence.

Ordinance or Law

Coverage to insure against loss caused by enforcement of ordinances or laws regulating construction and repair of damaged buildings.

Pay on Behalf

The insurer pays on behalf of the insured for claims and claim costs that the insured is obligated to pay as opposed to reimbursement coverages where the insured pays and is reimbursed by the carrier.

Per Occurrence Limit

Similar to a blanket limit, a single limit of insurance that applies over more than one location or more than one type of coverage, or both. A per occurrence limit can be a hedge against the possibility of inaccurate property value estimates since the entire limit can be applied to a loss at a single location.

Personal and Advertising Injury

Under general liability coverage, a category of insurable offenses that produce harm other than bodily injury. Personal injury includes: false arrest, detention, or imprisonment; malicious prosecution; wrongful eviction; slander; libel; and invasion of privacy. Advertising injury covers the following offenses in connection with the member's advertising of its goods or services: libel, slander, invasion of privacy, copyright infringement, and misappropriation of advertising ideas.

Products-Completed Operations

Provides coverage for liability arising out of the member's products or business operations conducted away from the insured's premises once those operations have been completed or abandoned.

Retroactive Date

The inception date of a retroactive period which extends coverage to a wrongful act giving rise to a claim that has taken place on or after the policy's retroactive date but prior to the policy effective date if reported during the policy term or any reporting period stated within or endorsed onto the policy. No coverage applies if the wrongful act took place prior to a policy's retroactive date.

Replacement Cost (RC)

The cost to replace damaged property today with property of like kind and quality without deduction for depreciation.

Underinsured Motorists Coverage

Coverage for bodily injury incurred by a member when an accident is caused by a motorist who is not sufficiently insured.

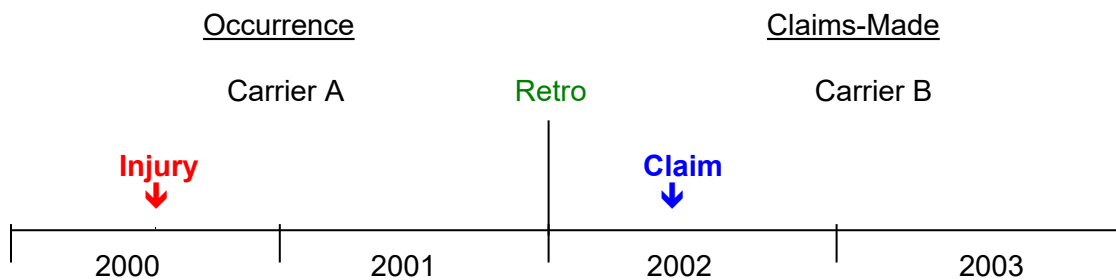

Uninsured Motorists Coverage

Coverage for bodily injury incurred by a member when an accident is caused by a motorist who is not insured.

Liability Coverage Form Types Occurrence Versus Claims Made Coverage

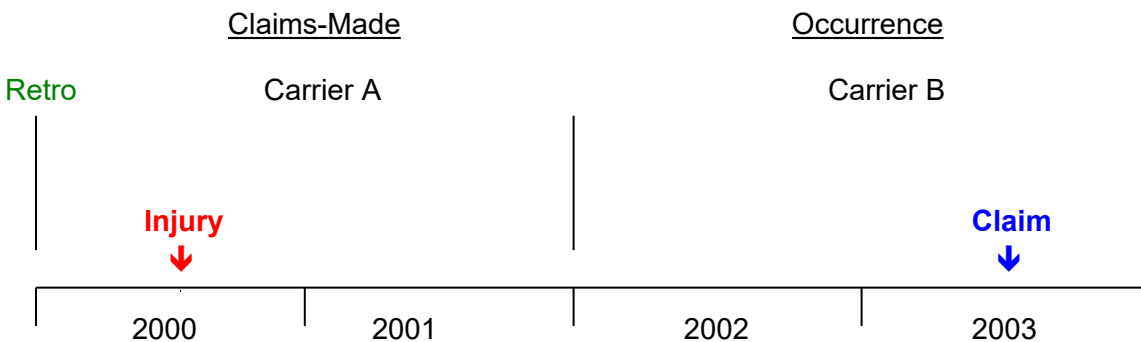

Brecksville-Broadview Heights City School District
Effective Date of Coverage: 7/1/2020

Example #1 – Occurrence Form

The Occurrence policy would respond to claim. Injury must take place during the policy period of the occurrence policy, but the claim may be made anytime thereafter.

Example #2 – Claims-Made Form

The claims-made policy would not respond to claim. The injury and claim must take place after the retro date and before inception of the Occurrence Policy. The Occurrence policy would not respond because the injury did not occur during the coverage period of the occurrence policy. However, if the occurrence policy had "prior acts" dated back to the Retro Date, the Occurrence policy would respond to claim.
