Dear Rebecca Riser,

My name is Lannie Davis-Frecker, and I serve as the President and CEO of Julie Billiard (JB) Schools, a network of K-8 elementary schools that educate and empower children with learning and social differences. I have the pleasure and honor to represent Julie Billiard Schools in our offer to purchase the former Brecksville-Broadview Heights Chippewa Elementary School.

We are hopeful that this beautiful property and school building will provide a safe, loving environment for our fourth campus in the Northeast Ohio area. For more than 70 years, JB has worked alongside public school districts, as well as other private schools, to offer a small, specialized environment for children who need extra support in the classroom. Our schools have changed the lives of children with autism, ADHD, dyslexia, traumatic brain injuries, and other special academic, social, and medical needs.

JB students come from more than 40 school districts across Ohio. Collaboration with these districts is one of the most critical elements to providing students with the education they need to thrive. We hope to work closely and collaboratively with the Brecksville-Broadview Heights School District to serve as an alternative option when a student may need more individualized support. Our fourth campus, like our schools in Akron, Lyndhurst, and Westlake, will serve K-8 children. We can support a maximum of 132 students at each campus. Historically, we only draw about 10-15 students at most from the district in which our campus resides. The other 120+ students come from surrounding districts.

When we open a new school, we find that many of our families actually move into the school district to be closer to the campus. We've helped dozens of families connect with realtors, churches, pediatricians, and other community organizations local to our campuses. Each JB school is deeply invested in its community. We develop relationships and partnerships with doctors, mayors and council members, local businesses, parishes, and other neighbors. We give back to our communities by sponsoring events, advertising, attending fairs, holding informational events, and volunteering.

We gratefully ask that you consider our enclosed offer. We would be honored to join your vibrant community and offer a specialized education to children who need it. Please review the included bid and support documentation below and reach out directly if you have any questions or concerns. Please recognize that this bid is contingent upon a 30-day response and final approval from the Board of Directors and the National Ministry Corporation.

Gratefully yours in mission,

Lannie Davis-Frecker

President/CEO, Julie Billiard Schools

Julie Billiard Schools, 2022

Executive Summary

Julie Billiard Schools are a network of private Catholic schools that educate and empower K-8 students with learning and social differences. We have campuses in Akron, Lyndhurst, and Westlake. We're currently seeking a fourth campus in the Brecksville area to meet our mission and the needs of children requiring a specialized education.

To stay true to our small class sizes and individualized approach, a JB School can only serve a maximum of 132 students in grades K-8. After many years of long waitlists at our flagship campus JB Lyndhurst, JB leadership began to explore the broader need for special education in Northeast Ohio.

In 2017, President Lannie Davis-Frecker, along with the Board of Directors and the Sisters of Notre Dame, announced the formation of the Julie Billiard Schools Network. Publically known as Julie Billiard Schools, the network serves as the supporting body of all our learning facilities.

Recent statistics reveal 25,000 students are on IEPs in Ohio. Recognizing this, the Network enacted strategic plans for growth to serve up to 700 students by 2030. Each new school is painstakingly planned to ensure that the students and their families will benefit from the same culture and services that have made our students so successful since the beginning.

JB Akron opened its doors to 14 students in 2017. Today, it serves 120 students from Akron, Bath, Hudson, Barberton, and many other communities. As the Akron campus nears capacity, JB Westlake, which opened in 2021, is preparing to serve 90+ students from Cleveland's West Side. All three of our existing campuses are slated to be at capacity in the next two years. For this reason, we are hopeful to acquire the former Brecksville-Broadview Heights Chippewa Elementary School and expand our services to a new community.

Every single child that has passed through Julie Billiard Schools is part of our history. While they learn from us, we also learn from them. They are the reason for our continued growth and are the impetus for the many improvements we make to our schools each year.

Who JB Serves

The beauty of JB is that there is no "typical" student. While we take an individualized approach to educating our diverse student body, we do not have the services in place to support every child with special learning needs. This guide outlines general factors that commonly lead to success in our environment. However, every child is unique and we evaluate our setting's ability to benefit each child who applies.

Learning & Social Differences

JB best serves children with mild to moderate autism, dyslexia, dyscalculia, dysgraphia, ADD/ADHD, expressive language delays, receptive language delays, written expression difficulties, anxiety disorders, and executive function deficits. All JB students have an Individualized Education Plan (IEP) and qualify for state scholarship funding. Our setting is not structured for children who need more intensive social, academic, and/or behavioral support.

Expressive & Receptive Language

JB students, even at the Kindergarten level, are expected to verbally communicate their wants and needs. As children grow through our program, we continue to work on expressive, receptive, and pragmatic language. We also offer onsite speech therapy in small group and 1:1 settings.

Independence

Our setting is intentionally designed to offer small ratios and direct intervention while still creating a sense of independent learning. Students who require a 1:1 aide or paraprofessional may not be ready for our environment, as our students are expected to independently attend, demonstrate expected behaviors, and complete classwork and homework.

Age & Development

Children must be 5 years old by August 1st to enroll in Kindergarten. JB serves students in grades Kindergarten - Eight. Students should be able to safely navigate the school, use the restroom independently, and keep themselves and others safe.

Academics

In terms of academic development, our ultimate goal is to prepare our students to move on to a more typical high school environment and beyond. Our grade bands allow us to provide some flexibility for students who need higher or lower academic support, but as a general rule we are best able to support children who are learning no more than 1-2 grades below their level. Every child is different and exceptions do apply. While we do have some twice exceptional and gifted learners, we do not have a gifted program or enrichment. We believe that learning should be customized, challenging, and fun.

Behavioral Needs

Our certified intervention specialists and onsite board certified behavior analysts are accustomed to a variety of behaviors that students bring to JB. We understand and have empathy for students who use the functions of behaviors to avoid or distract from situations in which they feel like they can't succeed. In many cases, when children are in an environment like JB, these behaviors can be reversed. However, we can't adequately serve students whose behavior physically or emotionally threatens the learning process, or the safety of our students, faculty and staff. Our program is not designed to serve students with persistent or severe behavior problems.

Trust & Team Approach

Perhaps the greatest indicator of student success at Julie Billiard Schools is the mutual trust and respect we establish with parents and guardians. We ask for your full buy-in, communication, and support as we navigate your child's education together.

The JB Way

The “JB Way” is our core, our strength, and our reminder that ALL children have the potential to be happy, successful students. It’s the combined qualities, characteristics and attributes, demonstrated by the Notre Dame educators and the charism of St. Julie Billiard, that set us apart from other learning environments.

Culture

- Our students are loved, accepted and given a sense of belonging.
